2021 Top POZ Blog Entries

Rush Limbaugh, COVID-19 vaccines and 40 years of AIDS—POZ bloggers mused about the big HIV issues of 2021.

December 23, 2021 By Trent Straube and Ian Anderson

POZ bloggers keep their fingers (and keyboards) on the pulse of the HIV community, sharing their thoughts on myriad subjects, both timely and timeless. Peruse the 20 most-viewed blog entries of 2021 and you'll find musings on the death of conservative windbag Rush Limbaugh—the shock jock used to mock people who died of AIDS—and personal takes on COVID-19 vaccines and the impending spike in sexually transmitted infections.

Of note, June 5, 2021, marked 40 years since the first reports of what became known and HIV/AIDS. The No. 14 entry on this year's list of top blog entries is an interview with the doctor who wrote that original 1981 report.

In related news, be sure to check out POZ's two other year-end roundups: "2021 Top HIV News Stories of 2021" and "2021 Top HIV Science Stories."
