A Walk in the Park to Remember

January 9, 2012 By Cristina Gonzalez

The Queer History Alliance has proposed turning Triangle Park in New York City across from the former St. Vincent's Hospital—the epicenter of the epidemic's early days—into an AIDS memorial. While the local community board has yet to approve plans, the memorial would include a park landscaped to evoke the shape of the AIDS ribbon, as well as a museum and educational space.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.

http://beta.docker.poz.com/article/NYC-AIDS-Memorial-21697-3632