Ferguson In Photos

August 24, 2014 By Rae Lewis-Thornton

The images coming out of Ferguson, Missouri are nothing short of AMAZING. Yet there have been clear violations of the First Amendment with arrest of journalist. The ACLU have filed a law suit on behalf of journalist and freedom of the press. Some of the most incredible photos have come from photo journalist Scott Olson of Gettys Images. I would not be surprised if he won a Pulitzer Prize for his images. Scott was also arrested last week.

Two of Olson's photos appear on the cover of national magazines this week Time and Bloomberg Businessweek. For those of us on Twitter we have seen this protest through photos, not just those taken by the media but also those taken by citizens with their telephones. Times have really changed. If you are not on Twitter all you have to relay on to capture this movement are news outlets. I thought that I would share some of these amazing photos with you. (I give photo credit to those I know for sure)

Scott Olson Being Arrested

Other Ferguson Post:

Michael Brown and The Politics of Respectability

The Case of Mike Brown

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.