On Behalf of the Thinbloods...

September 1, 2008 By Shawn Decker

The Republican National Convention is starting today... could politicians- of both blue and red stripes- please cool it with all the talk of breaking glass ceilings? It’s making people with bleeding disorders a bit nervous.

Thanks,

Shawn

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.