OraQuick In-Home HIV Test Available Online

October 1, 2012

OraSure Technologies has begun online sales of its OraQuickIn-Home HIV Test, The Morning Call reports. The single-use test costs $39.99 onthe OraQuick website and is expected to be available soon for over-the-countersales in retail locations such as CVS, Walgreens and Walmart. The test uses anoral swab and gives results in 20 to 40 minutes. The Food and DrugAdministration approved the test in July, which made it the first rapid in-homeHIV test in the United States.
