One Year Later

September 4, 2009 By Oriol R. Gutierrez Jr.

One year ago today, I wrote my first entry as a POZ blogger. I had no idea what I was really getting myself into (and I still don't, not really). What I do know is that it's been a blast.

Getting to share my thoughts with people living with and affected by HIV/AIDS has been rewarding, but getting feedback on those thoughts has been inspiring.

Here are my top 10 favorite posts from the last 12 months:
A Cause for Celebration
Virtuous Vampires
The HIV Criminalization Debate
The POZ/DDF Ratio
Deconstructing DDF
A Sort of Ghost
Do Ask, Do Tell
Rest in Peace, Michael
The Shadow of Death
Talk of the Nation

I look forward to another year!

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.