Butt Out

October 1, 2001 By John Hatchett

If hep C (HCV) has you seeing yellow, it may be time to put down the reds. A French study found that of 310 HCVers, the 160 smokers had faster viral progression. There is, the lab rats pen, a “significant relationship” between smoking’s toxicities and liver disease “independent of other factors that affect the course of the disease.”
