

Oil and Gas Companies Urged to Prioritize HIV/AIDS

August 20, 2010

Oil and gas companies consistently fail to address HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria among their workforces, according to a study by the Global Business Coalition on HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria (GBC) and Booz & Company. According to a Booz & Company statement, these companies prioritize heart disease, obesity and stress, not recognizing that young migrant laborers working at oil and gas sites in West Africa, Russia and China are at far greater risk from HIV, tuberculosis and malaria.
