Harlem United Trains Clergy as HIV Testers

Harlem United Celebrates Bringing Testing to the Pulpits

June 24, 2010

Harlem United broke ground on their new campaign Test/Re-Test to train clergy members to become HIV testers on June 15th. Veronica Webb, model/journalist/TV personality, and Reverend Terrance L. Kennedy, founder of New Hope for the World Ministries, hosted the event at Baptist House of Prayer. The community initiative strives to increase the number of individuals who know their status by pairing the two non-traditional partners together.
