

And We Quote

Anna Forbes, Deputy Director, Global Campaign for Microbicides

December 1, 2009

“It’s heartbreaking to see a woman getting her life together—leaving a violent relationship, say, or getting an education—and coming out of it HIV positive because she didn’t have the ability, while on the path to empowerment, to protect herself. We need to give people tools—including microbicide gels—to make sure that as they meet these challenges in their lives, they also have the basic human right to protect themselves from HIV.”
