

Connecting HIV Electronic Health Records in Wisconsin

October 31, 2013

The AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin (ARCW) received a $50,000 grant to connect the electronic health records of people with HIV getting care in its dental and medical clinics, according to an ARCW statement. The group claims such connectivity between clinical practice areas is rarely implemented but improves patient outcomes. Longtime ARCW donors Cary and Susie Silverstein gave the gift through their Baye Foundation.
