Online Database for Arizona HIV Services Launches

December 10, 2013

HIVAZ.org—a statewide online database for HIV testing and services in Arizona—has launched, according to a statement from the Aunt Rita Foundation, the HIV/AIDS group that created the database. More than 280 banners promoting the site were displayed on World AIDS Day in dozens of cities and every Walgreens statewide. Greg Stanton, the mayor of Phoenix, displayed a large banner for the site from the side of city hall.
