Viktor Luna of Project Runway Discloses He Has HIV

December 20, 2013

On a recent episode of Project Runway: All Stars, Viktor Luna disclosed that he is HIV positive. He explained his decision to disclose in a blog entry at The Huffington Post. The fashion designer appeared on season 9 of Project Runway and is competing in the current season 3 of All Stars, which he claims provided him with the motivation to disclose his status. Luna joins Mondo Guerra from season 8 of Project Runway and season 1 of All Stars, as well as Jack Mackenroth of season 4 of Project Runway, as openly HIV-positive alumni of the show.
