

Affordable Care Act Still on Track

June 28, 2012 By Shawn Decker

I am very happy about The Supreme Court decision to keep the Affordable Care Act on track. I know too many people with too many medical conditions. We are not hypothetical situations. Here is the President's reaction to the vote.

I know many in the AIDS community cringe when Obama speaks lovingly of Ronald Reagan, but let's not forget that he's the first president to invite a large group of people living with HIV to the White House for dinner. The Affordable Care Act shows that he is more than a kind gesture, and that his policies have those with serious (and expensive) medical conditions in mind.

Positively Yours,
Shawn
