The Dating Game: How to Get and Keep a Man in 2018!

Last night it went down in Atlanta, Ga!!!!!! We hosted an amazing event for Black MSM's in partnership with AID Atlanta. The event title: "The Dating Game: How to Get and Keep a Man in 2018!" We opened the conversation up with a simple question, "What is Your Definition of Dating" and boy did the comments roll in. The event was designed to offer a unique perspective on dating today.

As content creators, we design content for people to interact with in their everyday lives. Being able to host a live event was truly amazing because you can see the interactions right in front of you. We realize there is a void in the Black gay community of quality programming for black MSMs and we want to change that narrative. A special thanks to AID Atlanta for helping us with the goal of bringing programming to the community.

This event was one of the first LIVE events for us this year, but we are in the developmental stages of planning a "Love Tour!" We want to use our relationship template and share our challenges and triumphs with all of you. Be on the lookout for more info regarding our tour. Nashville, TN you are next! David and Johnny will be there April 22, so grab your tickets today at www.-officialcocktailsandconversations.eventbrite.com Seating is limited and tickets are going fast!
