Girls Just Wanna Have Safe Sex

July 13, 2010 By Shawn Decker

Gwenn sporting her Fashion Against AIDS shirt at coffee the other day. I thought the picture was too damn cute- and poignant- not to post here.

Here's to hoping that frank discussions about safer sex are a part of the White House's National AIDS Strategy, which is being released today. Guess we'll have to stay tuned and find out... I'll blog about the release soon, and release the t-cell Labtest Contest results on Thursday. In Harry Potter Alliance news, at midnight they were clearly ahead in the vote, just waiting for the results to be verified. As long as there are no hanging chads all looks good- thanks so much to everyone who voted.

Be back in a day or so.

Positively Yours,

Shawn
