

Hurry and Enter This Contest to Design a U=U T-Shirt!

The deadline is February 14. Soon after, we can all vote on a winning HIV prevention design!

U=U is ubiquitous. Not since the days of “Silence = Death” has a slogan so thoroughly permeated the HIV community across the globe. It’s plastered across billboards, brochures, postcards, posters, pins, clothes, campaigns, quotes, social media and even a certain magazine:

In case you're unaware, U=U stands for "undetectable equals untransmittable." It refers to the fact that people with HIV who take meds and maintain an undetectable viral load cannot transmit HIV sexually, even during condomless sex.

But what does U=U mean to you? Do you find it liberating and destigmatizing? A pithy educational tool? Or perhaps you question who is and isn't able to reach undetectable and how they are treated?

Whatever your viewpoint, why not get that message to the masses? Here's a fun and easy way to do just that: Enter this contest to design a U=U T-shirt. The contest is sponsored by HealthMerch.com and Prevention Access Campaign.

Below is information directly from the website (obviously not including the forms you need to fill out). For more details and to enter, visit HealthMerch.com.

About Prevention Access Campaign: Prevention Access Campaign is a health equity initiative to end the dual epidemics of HIV and HIV-related stigma by empowering people with and vulnerable to HIV with accurate and meaningful information about their social, sexual, and reproductive health.

Prevention Access Campaign's Undetectable = Untransmittable (U=U) is a growing global community of HIV advocates, activists, researchers, and over 950 Community Partners from nearly 100 countries uniting to clarify and disseminate the revolutionary but largely unknown fact that people living with HIV on effective treatment do not sexually transmit HIV.
