Make sure your results are saved

June 18, 2012 By iStayHealthy

I had a couple of reports from users who reported that sometimes the results they add in iStayHealthy don’t get saved. This affects only the iPhone version.

This seems to be the case when you enter the result and then go straight to the ’Save’ button.
To avoid this from happening do ’Done’ each time you finished editing a result.
Example enter a new CD4 count:

- tap on the CD4 row
- keyboard comes up
- enter value
- hit ’Done’ - keyboard disappears

Then do the same for every other value you want to end. When done hit ’Save’
I’ll change that in the next version so this won’t happen anymore.
