The Worst Day

October 5, 2011 By Oriol R. Gutierrez Jr.

Blogger extraordinaire and POZ cover boy Andrew Sullivan has introduced a new video section to his blog, The Daily Dish. The “Ask Me Anything” videos give him an opportunity to personally respond to reader inquiries.

The most recent video is a response to this question: “When did you find out you had HIV?” So it’s no surprise that “The Worst Day of My Life” is the title of his video response.

Watch the video:
Video no longer available

I can certainly relate to his experience being told he had HIV. I’m pretty sure all of us who receive an HIV-positive diagnosis can clearly remember the day we received the news. I hope to never experience a day like that again.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.