URGENT: Help Block Funding Cuts for Hemophilia

February 11, 2011 By Shawn Decker

Hemophilia is one of the most expensive disorders out there. Many families have to file bankruptcy just to get by because the treatments, especially for severe blood-clotting deficiencies, can cost families thousands of dollars a month.

The community has been great about setting up safeguards and protecting itself as much as possible, but in today's political climate it is very easy to see how essential funds for hemophilia and bleeding disorders are at risk. This is why I'm asking you for help.

The National Hemophilia Foundation has provided an easy way to do so. Click here to send a message to your representative. NHF has the template, all you have to do is fill out your name and where you are from so they can pass the message along to your elected official. It took me less than a minute, but I'm a dork and read their whole sample message and of course had to add my own literary flourish to it.

Hope everyone has a great weekend ahead. And I deeply thank you for taking a few moments out of your day to help a community in need.

Positively Yours,
Shawn
