

Watch HIV.gov's Preview of Global HIV Conference #AIDS2024

The conference, called AIDS 2024, takes place July 22 to 26 in Germany. Federal HIV leader Carl Dieffenbach offers a look ahead. [VIDEO]

July 19, 2024 By HIV.gov

Next week, HIV.gov will be sharing updates from AIDS 2024, the 25th International AIDS Conference, which will take place in Munich, Germany, and virtually July 22–26, 2024. Follow our coverage by subscribing to our daily emails and YouTube channel.

HIV.gov's coverage will feature live video interviews on social media with Dr. Carl Dieffenbach, Director of the Division of AIDS at NIH's National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, who will discuss highlights of research being presented at the conference.

Watch a conference preview video with Dr. Dieffenbach in the video at the top of this page and on YouTube

We'll also share conversations with leaders from the White House Office of National AIDS Policy, PEPFAR, HHS Office of Infectious Disease and HIV/AIDS Policy, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Health Resources and Services Administration, and other agencies about what they are presenting or learning at the conference on topics such as U=U, HIV prevention, addressing inequities, and more.

About AIDS 2024

The International AIDS Conference is the world's largest conference on HIV and AIDS. AIDS 2024 will bring together an estimated 15,000 scientists, policymakers, health care professionals, people living with HIV, and others at the intersection of science, advocacy and human rights. The conference will feature more than 200 sessions, including plenaries, symposia, oral abstracts, workshops, Global Village activities, pre-conferences, and satellites. Follow, watch, and share our coverage of the conference on HIV.gov's Facebook page, Twitter/X, YouTube, and the LinkedIn page for the HHS Office of Infectious Disease and HIV/AIDS Policy.

This blog post was originally published July 18, 2024, on HIV.gov.

