Weekend Movies

June 6, 2008 By Shawn Decker

OK, so I've been to a few movies recently. Gwenn and I saw Sex & The City, and overall we were happy. Gotta warn ya, halfway through, this thing is pretty depressing. I didn't really fully recover, and knew that something was amiss when I found myself in the theatre again.

I'd gone to see The Strangers to cheer myself up. The Strangers is a thinly veiled commentary on the current mortgage crisis facing our nation. I heard that Ed McMahon is being foreclosed on.... Ed friggin' McMahon!

Alright, that's all for now. This blog is really just a teaser for Monday, when....

TWO GUYS WITH AIDS REVIEW A MOVIE.

The Hemo2Homo Connection reviews Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull... will our heroes survive? Or will they perish down not one, not two, but three waterfalls? Log on Monday to find out!

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.